OFF THE BEATEN CUFF
—Every father has the urge to dabble in the arts at least once in a life span.

The impulse manifests itself in many ways. Some take to the brush, others to music, and still others to the stage. There is no end to the possibilities.

I took to the scissors.

The drive to demonstrate my artistic prowess came suddenly this week in the face of veritable disaster.

Opening the apartment door, after a day on the beat, I reared back in horror.

"Ye gods," I gasped. "Mark, what happened?"

My 17-month-old son stood there holding his stuffed bunny by the ear. With a string of "da-dums" and "da-de's" interwoven in baby fashion, he made clear his predicament.

At the end of his rapid-fire explanation, he pointed to his mother.

"Did he fall in the washer?" I asked, examining his head.

"He simply had to have a haircut," Joan replied.

"But did you have to use the lawn mower?" I countered.

For a second, I thought he had run head-on into a meat grinder.

Then came that inspiration. "Stand back," I instructed with the tone of a master about to perform his greatest work.

Little did I know what was in store as I set the stage in the bathroom. One must understand our bathroom is an over-sized closet with a window.

Rather than watch what was about to happen, Joan went to the dentist. I was ready to start.

With scissors, hair trimmer, and comb at hand to repair my bride's momentary flight into tonsorial fantasy, I put Mark into his highchair.

From my vantage point in the tub, I decided he didn't need a shave and would only charge him for the haircut.

The biggest problem was where to start, at the hole over his ear or the back of his neck. I selected the latter.

My first attack with the trimmers was strokes of genius.

There was a pile of hair on the floor and not a drop of blood.

But then my trip over the obstacle course started. Mark isn't one to remain still more than three seconds. He spent this time admiring himself in a hand mirror I gave him.

This went over his shoulder and behind his diaper cap. Thinking of the next seven years of ill fortune, I clamped my teeth together.

"It's me or him," I thought, "and I have the scissors."

But he had those big saucer eyes with lashes that could touch the ceiling, and he knew how to use them. With those, he was armed to the teeth.

By now he was standing on his highchair and I felt he was about to do a soliloquy from "Hamlet."

Instead, he took a swipe at me with the hair brush.

It was nip and tuck all the way. Hair was flying in every direction. Although I'm not certain, by the time I finished, I believe I was lying on my back with Mark perched on my chest . . . in the kitchen, no less.

Upon her return, Joan viewed the job with a critical eye . . . admiring the results. She thought Mark's haircut looked good, but wondered if he hadn't trimmed by sideburns too close.

Four Autos in Area Collision

STERLING — (Special) — Four cars crashed on the Elkhorn creek bridge Friday night in an accident blamed on slippery driving conditions.

State police reported an auto pile-up on the Elkhorn, Moline, and Dixon bridges. Three cars were involved in the collision. The cars were a 1952 Buick, a 1953 Chevrolet, and a 1954 Ford. The driver of the Buick was injured and taken to a hospital. The driver of the Chevrolet was killed. The driver of the Ford was uninjured. The cause of the accident was believed to be icy conditions on the bridges.

POLICE SERGEANT SHOT IN BANK ROBBERY—Sgt. Howard M. Slessman, 46, lies half in and half out of doorway of Greenwood branch of Seattle First National bank after he was shot in neck by holdup men. Attending doctor is not identified. One policeman was killed and two others wounded as three robbers shot their way out of the bank. The robbers escaped with an undetermined amount of money, two by auto and the third by foot. (AP wirephoto)

3 Bandits Shoot Way Out of Bank Kill Policeman, Wound Two; Drop $90,000 Loot

SEATTLE (AP)—Three bank robbers who shot their way through a police trio, killing one and wounding two others, were the objects of a virtually clueless search throughout the Pacific Northwest today.

The policemen never fired a shot Friday morning as they were cut down by the three men who had just finished robbing the Greenwood Bank of $97,700-$90,000 of which they dropped in their getaway.

Wear False Noses

The bandits, wearing horn-rimmed spectacles and false noses which some bystanders first thought were part of a joke, entered the bank at 10:40 a.m.

An employee pressed a concealed alarm bar with his foot and three policemen in one-man patrol cars responded—their sirens screaming as they neared the bank.

"George, somebody's sounded the alarm," one bandit shouted as he ran toward the front lobby. Police Sgt. Howard Slessman, shotgun at his side, was running through the outer door. The bandit fired and Slessman fell, a bullet wound in his neck.

Hit In Head

As Slessman fell, Patrolman Frank W. Hardy, 30, arrived, and jumped from his car, running toward the parking lot on the east side of the bank. A second bandit fired through a window, hitting Hardy in the head. He dropped to the sidewalk, mortally wounded.

The third officer, Vernon R. Chase, arrived just as two of the gunmen broke through a side door. One fired quickly and Chase was down a few feet from Hardy, a bullet wound in the chest.

Drop Sack

The third kicked out a plate glass window and jumped through. He dropped a sack containing $90,000 as he fled.

The robbers' getaway automobile was found later, a few miles away, its motor still warm and a .45 caliber bullet on the front seat. No further clues of real import have been uncovered.

Hail Damages Homes, Barns Near Nelson

NELSON — Large hailstones caused damage to several buildings in the Nelson area Friday night.

The stones, which ranged in size up to that of a walnut, broke windows in the home and barn on the Verner Gloden farm. Windows also were damaged in the Paul Young garage, the Clarence McDonald home and the Earle Stitzel residence.

Hail damaged the roof of the Stitzel store, and put dents into the Bill Miers trailer home.

10-Inch Snow Wets Down Dust In Colorado, Kansas

A snowstorm moved northeast out of Colorado and Kansas today, wetting down clouds of dust that had reduced visibility to zero in parts of five states. The blizzard dumped up to 10 inches of snow in its wake.

As the storm progressed, winds that had buffeted the Plains States with gusts up to 100 miles an hour diminished slowly. But hail borne by a howling wind and accompanied by lightning lashed Grand Rapids, Mich.

Nebraska bore the brunt in the early stages as the storm substituted snow for dust in its drive across the midcontinent.

10-Inch Snow

Snow to depths of 10 inches was reported at Chadron in western Nebraska. The Northwestern Bell Telephone Co. reported 1,630 long line circuits out in Nebraska, Iowa and South Dakota. It said 3,600 farm phones were out of service in the three states.

In Kansas City, the Weather Bureau said the storm would move northeast through Iowa and Minnesota into Wisconsin and Michigan, and eastward out of Oklahoma and Texas. The weatherman said some rain was in prospect north of a line extending roughly eastward

Body of Clinton, Ia., Woman Found at Auto Crash Scene

Car Plunges Off Rt. 30 During Night

Mrs. Olive Pronger, Tea Room Operator, Found by Harmonite

ROCK FALLS — (Special) — The body of a Clinton, Iowa, woman was found today near her wrecked auto on Rt. 30 east of Rock Falls near the Lee-Whiteside county line.

The dead woman was Mrs. Olive Pronger, 63, who with her husband operated a tea room in Clinton.

Russell Slater, Harmon, discovered the accident about 7:30 a.m., and notified state police. Officer Robert Nichols, Sterling, was assigned to investigate.

He reported Mrs. Pronger was alone in the car and traveling west when the car apparently went out of control and crashed over an embankment on the north side of the highway.

Nichols said the accident apparently was caused by the slippery condition of the road due to sleet and hail.

Lee County Coroner Robert Preston said Mrs. Pronger was thrown from the auto, and presumably died almost instantly of internal injuries.

Preston investigated the accident today and has scheduled an inquest tonight.

Spellman Trial Set For May 10

OREGON—The trial of Francis Spellman, 34, former owner of the Spellman Feed and Grain company, which went bankrupt in 1952, was set for May 10 in Ogle county Circuit court.

Recently released from Vandenberg, state work farm, where he was serving a one-year sentence for issuing a worthless check, Spellman now is charged with confiscating about 40,000 bushels of government grain stored in the grain company's bins.

Ogle county State's Atty. Wayne Bettner said the hearing will be a continuation of one he instituted last fall.

The trial was halted by Federal Judge J. Sam Perry, who ruled Spellman could not be tried while serving a federal probationary term unless federal approval was obtained.

If found guilty, Bettner said, Spellman could be sentenced to a maximum of 10 years in prison. He already is serving a five-year probationary term, going into custody in Freeport each week.

When the term ends, he must resume the sentence to Vandenberg.

Atty. Frank Kerr, Oregon, was appointed by Circuit Judge Leon A. Zick to represent Spellman who said he had no money for legal counsel.

Five Perish In Eastern Slum Blaze

NEW LONDON, Conn. — A dingy apartment in a blighted area went up in flames here early today killing five persons.

Nineteen escaped, some through the heroism of off-duty sailors from the nearby U. S. Navy submarine base.

Sailors flocking to the scene from New London's night spots, closing at just about the time the fire broke out, aided firemen and policemen in catching men, women and children who dropped from second and third floor windows.

None of the occupants, all living above the street level, escaped through normal exits.

VEEP PONDERS DRAFT—Former President Alben W. Barkley raised his hand to his head as newsmen told him that the Democrats of Kentucky had decided to draft him to run for his old seat in the U. S. senate this year. Barkley, shown at Louisville, Ky., March 12, told newsmen he had not made up his mind. (AP wirephoto)

Claim Atom Documents Are Missing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Substantial quantities of secret documents, related possibly to hydrogen bomb production, reportedly are missing from the government's huge 400,000-acre atomic plant at Hanford, Wash.

Rep. Pelly (R-Wash.) told newsmen Friday the Atomic Energy Commission has confirmed informally that certain papers have vanished. Pelly, who said he first heard reports of this late last year, added that AEC did not tell him the nature of the missing classified material, but that he took it for granted it was "top secret."

Asks for Probe

Pelly said he had no indication the data was stolen by spies, but he asked for an investigation by the senate-house atomic energy committee because, he said, "even if it's a matter of poor housekeeping it's a shocking situation."

The congressman reported Chairman W. Sterling Cole (R-NY) of the atomic committee has agreed to look into the situation and that an investigator probably will be sent to Hanford shortly.

AEC Silent

An AEC spokesman said the commission would have nothing to say for the time being. At Hanford itself, there was no immediate comment. The project.

OPPOSES COLD WAR

LONDON (AP)—Soviet Premier Georgi Malenkov said Friday night Russia "takes a strong stand against the policy of a cold war" because this policy is preparation for a "world slaughter" that would destroy civilization.

The Czech broadcast said one of that country's jets intercepted the American aircraft and demanded that they follow it to a landing inside Czechoslovakia.

"However, the American planes refused to follow this demand and attacked the Czech plane," the Prague Radio report claimed. "The Czech plane then used its weapons in self-defense."

The navy said the two planes were on a routine training flight off the Essex-class carrier Randolph. The Randolph is attached to the Sixth Fleet, which is the backbone of the NATO naval defense system.

32 Dead in Singapore Air Crash

Two U. S. Executives Passengers; Plane Bursts Into Flames

SINGAPORE (AP)—A BOAC Constellation airliner crashed and burst into flames on landing at Kallang airport today, killing 32 of the 40 persons aboard.

BOAC officials said two Americans and one Canadian were among the passengers.

The Singapore Standard said the Americans were believed to be vice president Grant F. Olson, of the W. A. Shafter Pen Co., and Michael Shatlin, Far East supervisor of Warner Brothers.

Skids on Landing

The plane, bound from Australia to London had been flying in a clear sky. On landing, it skidded, tore up the runway for about 20 yards, swerved to the right, then somersaulted on the grass about 100 feet away.

Eight crewmen reported survived the crash and were hospitalized but released after treatment.

The big four-engine plane, operated by a British Commonwealth company, was coming in from Jakarta, Indonesia, where it had stopped over on its regularly scheduled flight from Sydney, Australia, to London.

It crashed at the end of the runway after skimming over rooftops on a normal approach for the landing. Flames enveloped the plane and roared out of control for more than an hour.

See Crash

Horried eyewitnesses, including friends and relatives of some of those aboard, said they saw only one of the plane's retractable wheels come down as the Constellation approached. One witness said he heard two explosions as the plane hit the ground.

The British Overseas Airways corp. and QANTAS Empire Airways of Australia operate a joint service along the Australia-England route. Each service flies its own planes on a pooled service. The plane which crashed belonged to BOAC.

Revels Files

McCarthy's retort of "blackmail" was accompanied by memoranda he said came from the subcommittee files and depicted officials trying to sidetrack probes of Army matters.

Nixon said he will "not dodge the issues" in tonight's speech, which will be carried at 9:30 p. m., CST over CBS television and radio networks and those NBC radio stations which carried Stevenson's address a week ago.

But Nixon kept his own counsel as to the exact strategy he will use. There was no advance text of his speech.

Stevenson's original 1952 support-Sen. Duff (R-Pa.), one of Eisenhower's original 1952 supporters, said in an interview he believes the President's program is being imperiled by the controversy over McCarthy which has cut deep into the Republican party.

McCarthy, Stevens Argument Breaks Out All Over Again

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President Nixon states the case for the Republican administration tonight in a radio-television address while a family fight rages within the GOP over Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) and some of his investigative aides.

Friday McCarthy bitterly protested Army Department officials had attempted to "blackmail" his investigations subcommittee into dropping a probe of the Army. He made public a document that represented Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens as trying to divert the group's attention to a search for wrongdoing in the Navy, Air Force and Defense Department.

Called Untrue

Stevens and John G. Adams, the Army's general counsel retorted that such accusations were untrue. McCarthy had said Adams told him several months ago a report embarrassing to the subcommittee would be made public unless an investigation of the Army was called off.

Adams labeled the blackmail charge "fantastic and false," and Stevens likewise used "fantastic" to describe the idea that he would "do other than uphold the hand of the Army, the Navy, the Air Force and the Defense Department."

Before the day was over some Republicans as well as Democrats in the Senate were demanding investigations to determine who is telling the truth in the crossfire of accusations.

Nixon Designated

Nixon had been designated last Monday to deliver the party's reply to criticism by Adlai E. Stevenson, the 1952 Democratic presidential nominee. One of Stevenson's thrusts was a description of the GOP as "half McCarthy and half Eisenhower."

President Eisenhower had backed Stevenson when, after an earlier row with McCarthy, the secretary said he would protest Army witnesses against any "abuse" at the hands of investigating committees.

The explosion that again shattered the peace between Stevenson and McCarthy came when Senate sources Friday made public an Army report saying efforts were made to get special treatment for G. David Schine, an unpaid consultant to McCarthy's subcommittee, after Schine was indicted last November as a private.

The report cited instances when McCarthy had allegedly exerted pressure on Army Department officials and his subcommittee's chief counsel, Roy Cohn, allegedly had used threats.

Revels Files

McCarthy's retort of "blackmail" was accompanied by memoranda he said came from the subcommittee files and depicted officials trying to sidetrack probes of Army matters.

Nixon said he will "not dodge the issues" in tonight's speech, which will be carried at 9:30 p. m., CST over CBS television and radio networks and those NBC radio stations which carried Stevenson's address a week ago.

Speaker Tells of Weakness In Russian Government

By LILA HELERMAN
Oregon Correspondent

OREGON—Louis J. Alber, world traveler and foreign correspondent, warned Rotary club members here Thursday night of a world Communist conspiracy, but he said the Soviet system contains weaknesses which the United States may use for profit.

We are in an "undeclared piecemeal global war" which we do not understand, but that we had better understand before it is too late, Alber warned.

He said the Communist conspiracy has a fifth column in each country with a leader trained in Russia. He said the fifth column in the United States is the Communist party. The Kremlin blueprint, he warned, calls for world conquest, particularly the United States since the rest would be easy. However, he said, the blueprint does not call for active war, but conquest by more subtle means.

The speaker said there are weaknesses in the Soviet system, and that the United States should know and profit by them to "make the Kremlin walls crumble."

One weakness, he said, is that a few people control and rule. Russian agriculture is not up to par, and no country or army can exist without food, he continued. Farmers and industrial workers in Russia and her satellites carry on passive resistance, he said, and produce less than their capacity.

Another weakness, he reported, is that of 210 million population in the Soviet Union, only 90 million are Russians, and conquered people could revolt.

In the Caspian sea area are 25 million Moslems making up 98 per cent of the population, he pointed out, and that is the strongest bulwark against Communism. "a strong religion, a faith in God."

Alber said now is the time to act, speed up our propaganda, build military strength to its utmost, get a positive program of action and follow it. He suggested outlawing the Communist party and imprisoning its leaders.

Confirmation Is Held in Amboy

By MRS. WILLIAM KNUTH
Amboy Correspondent

AMBOY—In a beautiful and impressive ceremony, the Rt. Rev. Raymond Peter Hillinger, bishop of the Rockford diocese, conferred the Sacrament of Confirmation on a class of about 100 children and adults in St. Patrick's church in Amboy Thursday evening.

The members of the class, accompanied by their individual sponsors were in their places at 7:00 p.m. By 7:15 p.m. the church was filled to capacity and more, as the crowd awaited the arrival of the bishop and his attendants. An honor guard was formed by men lining the walk from the rectory to the church.

Shortly before 7:30 p.m. the choir sang "Ecce Sacerdos Magnus" or "Behold the Great High Priest" as the altar boys, bearing the crucifix, led the procession, followed by 20 visiting priests from surrounding parishes, and finally the bishop, in his colorful robes of red and ermine, flanked by the Rev. Vests For Ceremony Proceeding to the altar, the Bishop ascended the throne and vested for the conferring ceremony. After he addressed the congregation on the meaning and effects of the sacrament, the class and sponsors approached the altar rail in groups of 16, as the sponsors stood behind class members with their right hands on the shoulders of those to be confirmed.

After the class, consisting of 82 children and 16 adults, had been confirmed, all returned to their places and the bishop led them in prayer.

Following this, Bishop Hillinger acted as celebrant of the Solemn Benediction, sung by the choir of St. Anne's Alumni under the direction of Sister M. Hyacinth.

As the bishop and his cortege retired from the church in solemn procession, the guard of honor again formed as he returned to the rectory.

Visiting Clergy
The Reverend Kennedy, the secretary to the Bishop, acted as master of ceremonies, and visiting clergy were present from Sterling, Dixon, Tampico, Sublette, Walton, Maytown, Freeport, Peru, Oregon, Fulton, West Brooklyn, DeKalb, Rochelle, Polo, Sycamore and other parishes.

Push-Button Kitchens Near; Feature Electronic Devices

By KAY SHERWOOD

While Junior plots his interplanetary vacation, let's take a peek at the future for the chief cook and bottle washer.

A functioning, experimental "Kitchen of Tomorrow" created by a large manufacturer gives us a tantalizing preview of what's in store. Because the appliances (with the exception of a simulated electronic oven) are working models, the cook in the future may be you or me.

Just visualize a free-standing open kitchen handsomely decorated in walnut, brown and white with bright-colored accents to merge with living and dining area decor.

The gleam of aluminum and brushed stainless steel contrasts with polished wood and plastics. Lines of cabinets and appliances are clean and sharp.

The slightly arched ceiling is acoustically designed to muffle the mundane clatter so that conversation in the spacious adjoining relaxation area won't be disturbed. Vinyl-covered cork cushioned by a thin layer of foam rubber pads the floor.

Decor won't get the dinner on the table so let's take a look at the appliances. A review of the marvels will convince you (as it did me) of one fact: A bright day is dawning for the homemaker with a master's degree in electrical engineering.

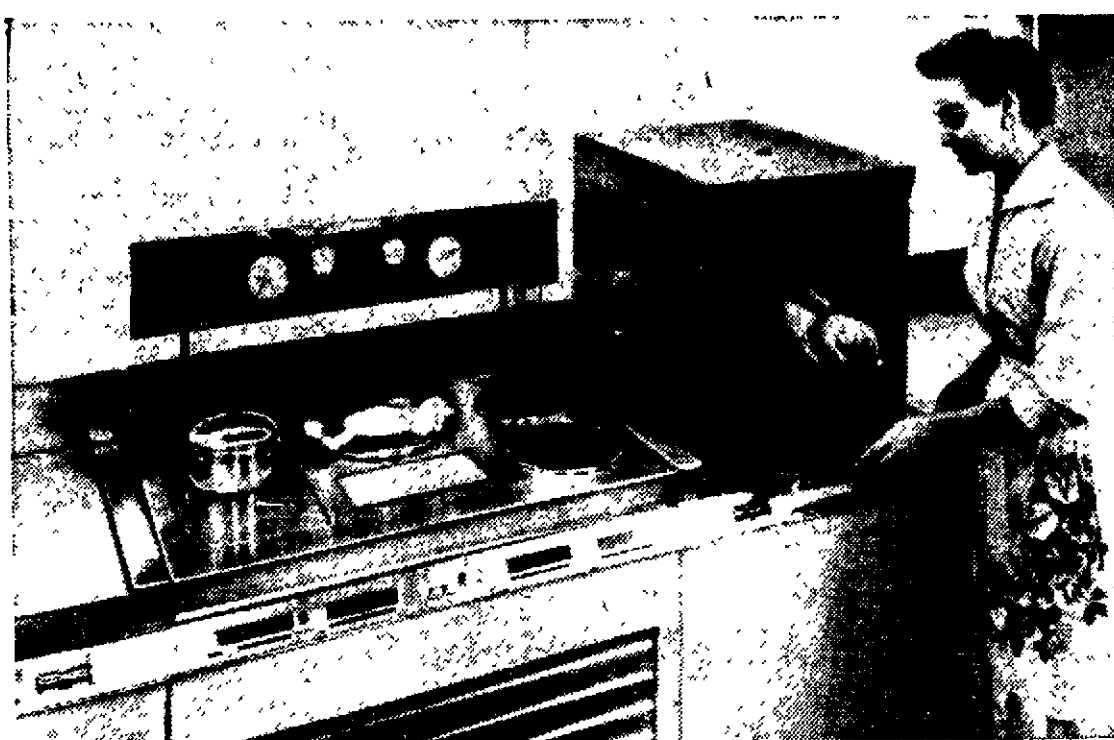

As a girl whose electrical know-how ends with a murky idea of Ben Franklin's kite experiment, I'll just have to redouble efforts to remain calm, cool and collected in the face of a battery of push buttons.

At the mixing center, for example, push one button and the food mixer rises out of the counter top. Just wave your hand near the switch and the wall cabinet glides down within reach.

Even the flour dispenser has a motor-powered sifter. No more stained recipe books, either. A viewer projects the recipe on a screen in front of your eyes.

When the cake's ready for baking, you bounce over to the cooking center. Two ovens at counter height flank a stainless steel range. Push a button. Up comes one of the ovens to waist level, revealing sliding glass doors.

This oven has a removable rotisserie and a special device which puffs charcoal or hickory smoke to flavor the meat. The other oven is the simulated electronic one.

Although still in the laboratory development stage, high speed ovens for home use are a distinct possibility for the future. You'll be able to bake potatoes in five minutes and I'll be able to burn the biscuits in seconds.

Besides burners on the range there is a four-slice toaster, combination Dutch oven and griddle and a well-cooker.

Caring dirty dishes to the sink is a cinch, because a double sink is set in an island in the kitchen and both sides are accessible. Natch, there is a dishwasher and a garbage disposal unit.

But there is also an illuminated color dial which tells you the temperature of the water flowing from a single faucet.

Horizontal refrigerator and freezer are waist high and, you guessed it, push buttons operate the vertical sliding doors.

Most From Coffee

To get the most from a pound of coffee, buy only one pound at a time. Keep it in the refrigerator tightly covered. And use the right grind for your coffee maker.

Sick List Plant

If you have a plant on the sick list, here's a solution that may help it: Add the shells of several eggs to a milk bottle filled with water and, after allowing it to stand for a day, water your ailing plant with it.

Browned Bananas

Bananas that have browned to the point of being almost black may have little sales appeal, but they are very easy to digest. If you enjoy them that way, buy them; they will be good for both your stomach and your budget.

Molotov Disregards History in Predicting NATO's Fate

Russian Foreign Minister Molotov recently likened the North Atlantic Treaty to the prewar anti-Comintern pact of the Axis powers. He said he has no doubt the fate of NATO will be no better than that of the earlier pact between Germany, Italy and Japan.

This is a typical piece of Communist camouflage laid across past history, which Mr. Molotov foolishly imagines no one can remember.

To begin with, the Axis treaty was for all practical purposes an offensive pact. The three Axis countries were bent on aggression. They had their sights set, too, on more than just Communist Russia. Among them they expected ultimately to subdue Asia, Africa and the European democracies.

Molotov wrongly implies that it was directed solely at the Soviet Union. He also implies incorrectly that Russia alone smashed this effort. The blunt truth is that without Allied aid, particularly material from the United States, Russia very likely would have lost the war to Germany.

In the fall of 1942, the Russians were perilously close to defeat. At that moment the "anti-Comintern" pact must have looked reasonably impressive to Moscow.

The NATO pact is something else. It is purely defensive in character. It came into being slowly, painfully, only after all efforts at reasonable settlement of postwar issues with Russia had collapsed. Given a cooperative Kremlin, there would have been no need for NATO.

As for Molotov's jaunty assurance that NATO's fate will be no better than the Axis pact suffered, he is here indulging in wishful thinking. No one wants war. If anybody starts it, Russia will.

But Russia another time would not have the benefit of American and other Allied materiel. She would have the combined weight of the free world—not inconsiderable today—thrown against her.

To be sure, Russia has increased output substantially since World War II, and has drawn Iron Curtain countries into her fold. But as things now stand, and are likely to be at least for the next two decades, the Soviet Union has no grounds for such optimism as Molotov so glibly expressed.

Always assuming, of course, that Western Europe, including Western Germany, stays in the Allied orbit.

The foreign minister's excess bravado disturbs no one who can recall what really happened in the great war.

Lesson in Division

We hear a lot these days about the divided world, divided political parties, and so on. One might add that this is also the age of divided attention.

Television is the divisive force in this instance. Under special dispensation, your kids are eating dinner in front of the TV set. You can count to 25 in the time it takes fork to get from plate to mouth.

It's time for bed soon after, and you tell 'em to pick up their things and head out. Each operation is conducted in a state of semiparalysis, while they pause open-mouthed again and again to catch a glimpse of their favorite Wild West character wasting his usual quota of ammunition.

Eventually the job is done and they leave—backing out as if in the presence of royalty. And aren't they?

This is bad enough, but we adults are no better. We snuggle up with a book or a fat magazine, determined to "get some reading done." The wife turns on the set, pleading boredom over the ironing board.

Pretty soon we sneak a glance at the set "just to see what's going on." These harmless little bootleg looks grow more frequent. Half an hour passes. The book lies carelessly dropped on the lap, and we are staring fixedly at the screen. We had to see "how it came out."

Sound familiar?

Wives With Charge Accounts Buy More But Save in End

A recent study made of the shopping habits of women discloses that when a woman walks into a department store where she has a charge account she is more likely to buy something than when she goes in armed only with money in her handbag.

Before you husbands who have long suspected as much start yelling "I told you so," you'd better hear a little more of the story.

While it is undoubtedly true that if your wife has a charge account at X department store she is likely to buy more from that store than the woman who hasn't an account there, you may be the winner, not the loser, in the long run.

With that charge account she can sit at her telephone and order an article she needs and have it sent out—a transaction that takes about five minutes.

Without the charge account she would get dressed, go to town and perhaps spend considerable time "shopping" for the needed article.

SHOPPING TRIPS EXPENSIVE
The shopping trip might well mean getting a baby sitter and asking a friend to go along. They'll probably have lunch while they're about it. Also, there's the expense of driving the car down and back and of paying for parking.

By comparative shopping a few cents might be saved on the article, but it wouldn't be any bargain if your wife added in all the costs of the trip to town.

Besides, every woman shopper knows that the cash customer doesn't get anywhere near the service that the charge customer gets. Returning an article bought for cash is much more difficult than returning one that was charged. Also, it is much easier to get a store to do something about the dress that shrinks and fades, or the draperies that don't hang quite right, if the customer has charged instead of paying cash.

And there's another thing. When the woman with a charge account sees a bargain she can take advantage of it, while the woman who buys for cash doesn't always have the money to get the coat at half price or outfit her children for the next year at end-of-the-season sales.

So there are many sound reasons why Mama spends more at the store where she has a charge account than at a store where she doesn't.

Voice of the People

March 10, 1954
Polo, Ill.

Voice of the People:

The letter from "A Reader" in the March 9 issue is full of much innuendo and little fact. I doubt if he has gone to the bother of looking up the actual transcript of Dr. Belsky's committee hearing. On Page 125 of the U. S. News and World Report for March 12 it is plain to all who read that Dr. Belsky must have been guilty of a good many things since he repeatedly answered "I respectfully decline to answer that question, under the protection of the Fifth Amendment, in that my answer might tend to incriminate me." If he hadn't done some conniving with Communists and if he had answered all the questions on his Army forms as a good American without Communist connections could do, he would not have needed to plead the Fifth Amendment. I have little patience with those who get all steamed up about such people. For a fuller account of another Fifth Amendment pleader, I suggest that on Page 72 of the same magazine begins a full account of the Peress' hearings. Read this with an open mind—then ask yourself if you could condone his actions? Yes, someone did tell Joe about Peress' connections with the Communist Party. She happened to be a New York policewoman who had posed as a Communist to gain evidence. Witnesses such as this cannot be classed as "unreliable informants." Joe has a wealth of evidence, you can be sure, about these traitors but until some provision is made to keep them from hiding their nefarious schemes behind the Constitution, they can always evade the issue. How long do you think a Russian accused of conspiring to overthrow the Communist dictatorship would be allowed to plead the Fifth Amendment?

The leader accused McCarthy of taking an informant's word without proof—yet he asked us to do the same thing. We are supposed to take his word for McCarthy's actions in Wisconsin. Did the reader actually see these things happen—or did he take some prejudiced informant's word for what went on? As for this quote from Joe—I wish he'd cite his source for it—"You are not accused of anything but someone gave information accusing you of being a member of the communist conspiracy." I wonder if the reader made that up as something which Joe might have said. The reader says Joe wants to be the first Catholic president—Joe says he doesn't. Who ought to know more about what McCarthy wants to do? The reader or Joe himself? Why can't people see that this Senator from Wisconsin is doing a job that needs to be done—patriotic Americans should applaud his actions instead of hinders them. The letter from a Chippewa Falls, Wis., CONSIDER shows that some people from his state appreciate him: "For the benefit of those who have grown soft, Sen. McCarthy represents those of us in Wisconsin who have not gone soft, particularly in the head. He lawfully represents the majority of the people of Wisconsin."

"If he is fed up with soft-headed administration it is because we are. We are mindful of the fact that it was a soft-headed general who retreated before the Communists in Germany, upon receiving orders from a soft-headed administration. . . . We are also mindful of the fact that it was a soft-headed general who gave China to the Communists. . . . And speaking of generals who got a raw deal, remember what happened to MacArthur? It would seem that was worse than a 'browbeating' and besides he had been DOING HIS DUTY. He was not covering up for Reds. Let's reserve our wrath for traitors—our applause for those who un-mask them."

A Saturday Night Historical Notebook

An Invitation... Books About Lincoln... Brooks Fills a Need... Secluded Companionship

By ROGER THOMPSON
Telegraph Staff Writer

Today we print the concluding installment of "Books About Lincoln," from a talk given by the Rev. Neil J. Crawford before the Dixon Woman's club.

Again we'd like to thank the Rev. Crawford for his contributions to the "Notebook." We are happy to have been able to print his work.

And it might be well to repeat an invitation we have made before. We'd like to see the work of other area historians, and print it. Anyone who has a story about Dixon history is invited to submit it. In that way, we feel we can contribute to Dixon's historical literature, which in future years may provide a written record for those intrigued by the study of the younger days of this area.

Books About Lincoln By THE REV. NEIL J. CRAWFORD

Part II

Brooks never claimed to be an intimate friend, yet he surely was as nearly that as any man in Washington. Edward D. Baker was killed very early in the War and Noah Brooks filled a need in Lincoln's life. In the preface of his "Abraham Lincoln" (Centennial edition) he says, "It was my good fortune to know Lincoln with some degree of intimacy, our acquaintance beginning with the Fremont campaign of 1856, when I was a resident of Illinois, (Dixon) and continuing through the Lincoln-Douglas Canvass, two years later. That relation became more intimate and confidential when in 1862, I met Lincoln in Washington, and saw him almost daily until his tragic death. This preliminary egotism may be pardoned by way of explanation of the fact that many things relating to his early life, herein set down, were derived from his own lips, often during hours of secluded companionship."

One of these "hours of secluded companionship" was on Sunday, November 15, 1863, four days before the Gettysburg Address. He and the President went that day to Alexander Gardner, the photographer, where a photograph was to be made. Lincoln had an advance copy of the address Edward Everett delivered four days later. It covered two full pages of a Boston newspaper. Brooks asked Lincoln about his own speech and he replied that his speech would be "short, short, short," that it was written, "but not yet finished." One copy of the photograph made that day shows an envelope on the table beside the sitter. It contained Everett's two-hour address.

Brooks wrote about that sitting in 1894, and his articles were published in the Century Magazine. What a shame Isaac N. Arnold, another friend of Lincoln, writing at that time did not have the newspaper man Brooks, as his proofreader. Arnold's "Life of Abraham Lincoln" appeared that same year and launched an error that seemingly will not die. It was he who fathered the story that "President Lincoln, while in the cars on his way from the White House to the battlefield, was notified that he would be expected to make some remarks also. Asking for some paper, a rough piece of foolscap was handed to him, and retiring to a seat by himself, with a pencil, he wrote the address which has become so celebrated."

The fact is that Mr. David Wills wrote to the President on November 2, 17 days before the dedication date, November 19, 1863. Nothing was written on the train. John G. Nicolay, one of Lincoln's private secretaries, corrected the error of Arnold sixty years ago, yet I heard it repeated again this year on a national broadcast.

Noah Brooks could have set Isaac Arnold right. Of course, if he had, Mary Shipman Andrews, would never have written her little classic, "The Perfect Tribute," about Lincoln's immortal speech.

Robert Todd Lincoln praised a book by Brooks, "Abraham Lincoln," very highly. Granting that Lincoln's son, Robert, was prejudiced, yet what man would not cherish such praise? I do not know exactly how long Noah Brooks was in Dixon with The Telegraph, but he was here in 1856 and did not leave earlier than the latter part of 1858. It is evident from his writings that he cherished his Dixon days and that he was fond of his friend, Father Dixon, the founder of the town.

Biographies of Lincoln are like heavenly bodies: the planets have their satellites. We shall look at the planets that make up the main galaxy of the Lincoln skies and pass by the satellites.

Four campaign biographies appeared in 1860 written by J. H. Barrett, D. W. Bartlett, W. D. Howells and John Locke Scripps. Howell's book I find the most interesting. He thought so too, for he told Mark Twain in 1870, "I wrote the life of Lincoln that elected him."

He probably did, too. "When the book appeared in the summer of 1860, Lincoln, at the request of Samuel C. Parks of Chicago, read the book and made corrections with pencilled notations on the margins." This book with the notations was reproduced in 1938 by the Abraham Lincoln Association. Since it was corrected carefully by Lincoln, it has almost the quality of an autobiography.

None of the wartime biographies was really important. Benjamin Thomas considers Josiah G. Holland's "Life of Abraham Lincoln" (1865) the best of the earlier biographies. Around this planetary book are such satellites as "The Life and Public Service of Abraham Lincoln" by Henry J. Raymond, editor of the New York Times; the various books by Isaac W. Arnold, and F. B. Carpenter's "My Six Months at the White House."

In 1865 William Herndon lifted a raucous voice of dissent. He felt that the other writers with the exception of Ward Lamon, had dehumanized his partner at law, Abraham Lincoln. His two-volume "Life of Lincoln" gave us down-to-earth information about Lincoln's appearance and daily habits, for which we owe him an incalculable debt. On the other hand, modern scholars such as Mrs. J. R. Randall have proved he was cruelly unfair to Mary Todd Lincoln and the Ann Rutledge story is mostly fiction. I would not say that Herndon lied, but I would say that Lincoln's wife so much that he wanted to believe anything that would hurt her.

Only a half dozen men knew Lincoln well. One was Henry Clay Whitney. His book, "Life on the Circuit With Lincoln," was the last important book written by a man who knew him.

Ida Tarbell was the first of the modern school of research scholars who sought sources in old records in old court houses and other dusty places including country roads. Her "Life of Lincoln" published in 1900 had all the essential information about Austin Gollaher who saved Lincoln's life when they both were boys in Kentucky. It was fascinating to find a writer in a magazine in Febru-

The Doctor Says:

Dog's Hepatitis Probably Will Not Be Contracted by Humans Who Handle Animal

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.

Edwin P. Jordan, M.D.

This writer, like the author of today's first letter, also has a dog which became ill with hepatitis, and perhaps there are many others who may be worried about the same problem which she raises.

Q—I have been concerned about our cocker spaniel puppy which we loved very much. She was sick about a week with fever and vomiting, and although treated by the veterinarian she died from what he said was hepatitis. The children handled her a great deal and I am worried sick about whether they might get this from the puppy.

Mrs. W. W.

A—There is a disease of human beings commonly called infectious hepatitis or epidemic jaundice which is caused by a virus which attacks principally the liver. The disease in dogs is probably also caused by a virus, but probably the two are not alike, and at any rate, there does not seem to be much, if any, danger from contracting it from dogs. I have heard of no reports of human cases of epidemic hepatitis directly contracted in this manner.

Q—I am troubled with my right hand and arm going to sleep or becoming numb, particularly at night.

The hand swells and burns. What can you suggest?

A—It sounds very much as though there was some definite interference with the circulation in the arm and that during the night in particular, perhaps because of the position of this limb, the blood flow is partially cut off. There are several possible causes around the shoulder or neck, and it would probably be necessary to make X-rays and other tests for cervical rib or for some other cause for this distressing condition.

Q—My son and I lived for about a year breathing small but constant amounts of natural gas fumes from stove and hot water heater in our apartment. Is this likely to cause us any harm?

A—If this was not harmful at the time it occurred it seems unlikely that there would be any chronic bad effects since in all probability the gases breathed in would have been eliminated fairly promptly. It is dangerous, however, to be in a room filled with gas fumes, and every effort should be made at all times to make sure that cooking and heating equipment is in proper shape so that it does not allow fumes to escape into the air you breathe.

Q—What is the most successful treatment for bleeding piles?

M.C.D.

A—Surgery.

The Mature Parent

Self-Contempt on Top of Self-Pity Gets You Nowhere

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Joan is a pretty girl of 15. Always people have commented on her resemblance to her father. Because of this, Mr. B., has enjoyed the flattery she receives. So it's easy for her to cajole extra money from him for anything she wants.

Mrs. B. resents her extravagance and Mr. B.'s indulgence. She attacks them, not by words, but by a consistent policy of self-denial.

For two years, she's refused to buy a new fur coat, though her old one is costly to keep in repair. She won't buy the orthopedic shoes she finds comfortable, preferring to complain about the cheaper ones that hurt her.

For neither the coat nor the shoes are as important to Mrs. B. as possessing excuses for the self-pity by which she can attack her family.

How foolish she is! Because the self-pity is utterly unproductive. It does not change extravagance and indulgence into economy and discipline. Its only result is impatient, irritation in Joan and Mr. B.

That's because it's the bad kind of self-pity. It's infected with self-contempt. If we can remove the self-contempt from Mrs. B.'s self-pity, we have a very respectable feeling indeed.

For example, genuine self-pity would send Mrs. B. right down to the store for those orthopedic shoes she needs. It would not permit her to suffer the pain that results from her cheap shoes. What holds on to the suffering is the poisonous element of self-contempt in her self-pity.

And I repeat, it gets her nowhere. It produces no effect on the extravagance and indulgence she resents; nor does it produce material results of a new coat and comfortable shoes.

Isn't it absurd? Yet many of us, quite unaware of what we're doing, allow ourselves to waste years of joy and self-respect in just this kind of idiotic, dead-end war against ourselves, our needs and our own interests.

If we are healthy people, we don't go in for ineffective attitudes. We want results from them.

So if we deny ourselves a coat we need, we do it for a purpose. We apply the money we would pay for it to the new rug we would enjoy more; or use our money to purchase music lessons for the daughter whose talent gives us delight.

We just don't waste time with the kind of self-contemptuous denial and complaining that make us sacrifice our needs for nothing but perpetual and humiliating defeat.

Electrical Equipment Can Overload Circuit

By JUNE PILGRIM
Lee County Home Adviser

This little safety warning came to my attention the other day. Do your electric lights blink when you plug in the iron? If they happen to do so in your home, it means the wiring circuit is overloaded. It's a good idea to check it and relieve the load. You will have much less chance of a fire starting if you do something about this at once. Remember, too, that no piece of electrical equipment you buy can perform at its best if the current furnished for it is not adequate.

Baking of Custard

Was asked a question last week in regard to the baking of custard. This home-maker was having trouble with it not getting done. This is a common difficulty now as we are using more homogenized milk. You will find it necessary to bake custard about twice as long. You will generally have a firmer custard with a little tougher top surface and little browning.

You may also notice the tendency toward quicker curdling when you make creamed soups, scalloped potatoes, caramels and creamed vegetables. This also comes from homogenized milk. For this reason the home maker may want to watch carefully the type of milk she purchases.

For drinking there is nothing nicer than homogenized milk but for cooking you may want it only pasteurized.

Evaporated Milk

By the way, as a homemaker, are you making use of evaporated milk and fat-free dry milk? Evaporated milk costs about two-thirds as much as whole, fresh milk; fat-free dry milk costs about one-fourth as much. Be wise and add powder to fresh milk to put extra nourishment in each cup. Dry milk solids have all the goodness of fluid milk except for Vitamin A (which is found in fat); but the calcium, phosphorus, B vitamins, protein, and milk sugar are still preserved.

You can gain extra nourishment and expect richer browning when you use an extra amount of dry milk powder in baking.

Try the following Lenten dish—macaroni, cheese and eggs:

- 1/2 C. macaroni (pieces)
- 1 1/2 C. water or fluid milk
- 1/2 C. dry milk solids
- 1/2 t. salt
- 1 1/4 t. fat
- 1 1/2 C. grated cheese
- 2 T. flour
- 4 hard-cooked eggs, sliced

Crumbs, mixed with melted fat

Note: For added milk value use 1/2 cup dry milk solids and 1 1/2 T. flour in place of amounts given above.

Cook macaroni in salted water; drain. Put the water or fluid milk into a pan, add dry milk, flour and salt. Beat until smooth. Add fat and cook over very low heat (use heavy pan), or use double boiler. Stir to prevent lumping and sticking. Remove from heat and stir in cheese.

Place macaroni in greased baking dish, cover with the eggs, and add the cheese sauce. Sprinkle crumbs over top. Brown in moderate oven of 350 degrees about 20 minutes. Makes about 4-6 servings.

Cocoa Mix

Here's a cocoa mix to keep on hand for evening snacks, to speed up breakfast preparation, and for a substantial lunchtime beverage. Why don't we substitute one cup of cocoa every day for one cup of coffee. We'd not only help the dairy farmer, but have stronger bones that would resist breaking, have shiny hair and fairer skins as a result.

This mix makes one quart:
1/2 cup sugar 1/4 t. salt
1/2 cup cocoa 8 cups dry milk

Combine all together and store in a tightly covered container. To make beverage, use 1/4 cup of the mix to one cup water (or 1 cup fluid milk). Use the latter if it's hard to get milk down Junior or Grandma.

Cook over direct heat in a heavy pan for 3 minutes. Beat until frothy before serving. Should you prefer: Bring it to boil over low heat, stirring constantly. Then place over boiling water and cook for 15 minutes.

For the Spring Decorator

1. There should be at least one common color in rooms that join. Consider this when buying that can of paint. It's still better to have more common colors. Professional decorators plan a whole downstairs

WASHINGTON (AP)—National unemployment, continuing its rise, reached 3,671,000 in February, by the latest government count.

It's anybody's guess whether the key March figure—published next month—will show the decline hoped for by President Eisenhower.

The President said some weeks ago that if the March jobless total fails to drop he will consider government action, including possible

Dow-Jones Av. Close
Industrials

Weekly Market Comment
Closing Dow-Jones averages today and net changes for the week are as follows:

On Thursday of this week, the Dow-Jones averages closed at 300.81, the first time in over 24 years—since October, 1929—that these averages have closed so high. In marked contrast, the Dow averages continued to act poorly and closed the week with a net loss of 1.47 points. The Utilities also reached a new high close today.

The week's market advance has again been featured by strength in the high-grade investment issues, too numerous to single out by name. So far as industries are concerned, strength appears especially evident among the aircraft, the machine tool companies that supply the aircraft manufacturers, the air conditioning stocks, the top-grade oils and the well-established operating utilities.

The stock market, with the notable exception of the Falls, is advancing while general business is apparently still declining. There are three possible explanations for this paradoxical market action:

1. Sales have in general held up well while production has slumped. Hence inventories have been declining for nearly six months and now orders should soon be stemming the decline in production, and probably causing an upturn. Generally speaking, there is as yet no real evidence of this change.

2. The Government's easy money policy has caused ample funds and credit to be available at a time when money often is tight. This may explain in part the constant demand for "blue chip" stocks.

3. Anticipation of the tax bill, coupled with unprecedented confidence in the soundness of the Eisenhower Administration's fiscal policies may well be causing a general reappraisal of investment favorites on a higher price-times-earnings basis.

Jefferson School Pupils Entertain Author

CLARA INGRAM JUDSON autographed copies of her books for a group of pupils after she spoke in Jefferson school Thursday. Shown above (left to right) are Peter Nichols, a member of a delegation from Washington school which heard the speech; Billy May, Mrs. Judson, Russell Brown, Gary Shaw, and Johnny Sigel. Mrs. Judson also spoke for the school's PTA meeting Thursday evening. The author, who has written more than 20 books on the contributions of immigrants to the United States, compared America to a "tapestry, rather than a melting pot, which reduces all elements to a common level." Continuing with the "tapestry" theme, she said America's people form the pattern of the tapestry, while the leaders are threads which hold it together.

NCIARC Will Review School Drive Progress

The North Central Illinois association for the Aid of Retarded Children, Inc., will conduct a review Monday of the drive to provide classroom facilities for retarded children.

Covering a seven-county area, the week-old campaign is designed to acquire sufficient funds and materials to erect school accommodations on a plot of ground near Camp Reynoldswood, west of Dixon.

Discussion of the drive's progress will be held in Loveland Community house, Dixon, at 8 p.m. The public is invited.

Mothers of children enrolled in the parent-sponsored school will form a panel to review the drive's progress. Mrs. George Hooper and Mrs. William Kramer, teachers at the local retarded children's school will take part in the program.

In addition to the panel, a quartet composed of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Neely, Peatonica, and Mrs. W. C. Arendsee, Rockford, will provide musical entertainment.

Refreshments will be served by Mrs. William Poeske, Rochelle, and Mrs. Harold Neely, Peatonica. Several local businessmen already have offered to aid the cause in providing goods and services in constructing the school.

August Fiaz, 506 First av., will contribute services, equipment and materials for the project free of charge, according to Mrs. Carroll Boston, Dixon, president of the NCIARC. Dick Blair, 523 Nachusa av., offered to excavate the basement free of cost. John Cahill of Cahill Electric Co., will handle the electrical wiring. J. Fred Hofmann of Hofmann Heating and Air Conditioning, will install a heating plant at far less than cost. John McLane, Dixon architect, has provided plans and drawings at only part of the actual cost.

The NCIARC drive opened Monday. Association members hope others will help toward the goal. Presently, the school is operated in the Dixon armory.

Anyone wishing to contribute labor or materials can telephone Mrs. Boston at her home. Monetary contributions can be left at either of two Dixon banks.

3 Area Students Gain Scholastic Honors at Purdue

Three area students were among the 249 Illinois men and women to attain the distinguished rating for scholastic work during the first semester of the 1953-54 academic year at Purdue University.

They are John E. White, Rt. 4, Dixon, freshman in engineering, Charles J. Kimball, Mt. Morris, freshman in engineering, and Robert, C. Craven, Franklin Grove, junior, civil engineering.

To attain this rating, a student must make an average of "5" or better for all subjects carried during the semester.

A six-point average is the highest possible under the Purdue grading system and means that the students make the top grade of "6" in each subject.

Craven was among the five Illinois students to earn this top average during the semester.

Dixon Woman Gets Divorce

A decree for divorce was granted Friday in Lee county Circuit court to Mrs. Frieda Lawson, 513 Jackson av., Dixon, who charged her husband, William Lawson, Rt. 4, Dixon, with extreme and repeated cruelty.

In granting the divorce, Judge Robert Bracken awarded the custody of a child born to the marriage to the mother.

According to the decree, the Lawsons were married in Rochelle on Feb. 16, 1946.

Judge Bracken ordered the father to pay $10 a week child support. Mrs. Lawson waived alimony.

Jail Riot Leaders Put In Solitary

CHICAGO (AP)—Solitary confinement was the lot today of 19 inmates of Cook County's jail who were involved in Wednesday's riot.

Warden M. P. Scanlan said they would remain in solitary for varying terms. The five he described as ringleaders would stay in solitary as long as they are in the jail's jurisdiction, he said. Two are awaiting transfer to other prisons, two are awaiting trial for armed robbery and one is under death sentence.

Four others were listed by the warden as having aided and abetted the ringleaders while the remaining 10 "just went along," he said.

"In solitary they will be fed, allowed to read only the Bible, given only two one-hour exercise periods a day and allowed to receive mail," Scanlan said.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Jenkins have returned from Florida where they have been staying in Naples since Jan. 1.

Harold Cook, Dixon, is attending the New York City flower show developing ideas for the flower exhibition to be held in connection with the Exposition of Modern Living to be held at Navy pier, Chicago, beginning April 3. He will handle the Chicago show. Before returning home, Cook will visit similar exhibitions in Boston and Cleveland.

Tavern Owner Moves to Set Aside Verdict

A motion to set aside a $15,000 default judgment in favor of Mary Busser, 18, Dixon, in a suit against John L. Moore, proprietor, Royal Palms tavern, Dixon, was taken under advisement Friday by Judge Robert Bracken, Lee county Circuit court.

Judge Bracken found in favor of Miss Busser last month when Moore failed to answer her complaint seeking $115,000 damages resulting from four-car accident Oct. 18, 1952, near Dixon, in which two teenagers were killed.

Miss Busser sought $100,000 in exemplary damages and $15,000 under the dram shop act from the Dixon tavern proprietor.

In the motion to set aside the judgment, Moore stated he had taken all the necessary steps to see that an answer had been filed by the deadline.

Affidavits accompanying the motion indicated that an oversight on the part of the insurance company covering the defendant resulted in the failure to file the answer on time.

Moore also requested leave to plead in the case, contending he had ample reasons to believe he was not responsible for the accident that caused allegedly permanent injuries to the plaintiff.

Duff declared. "I think the country is fed up with the McCarthy wrangle, at least my mail indicates it is."

Dirksen Joins In
And criticism of McCarthy by Republicans reached even into his own sub-committee. Sen. Dirksen of Illinois accused McCarthy Friday of breaking an agreement among GOP members by releasing the memoranda in answer to the Army report.

McCarthy said later it was "an inexcusable oversight" on his part that Dirksen had not been told about the meeting being called off. But he said he had "no choice" about the release of the material from the committee files.

In New York, CBS commentator Edward R. Murrow replied on his regular news program Friday night to another McCarthy blast earlier in the week.

After Murrow had depicted the senator unfavorably in a half hour TV program, McCarthy read a listing of Edward R. Murrow, assistant director, Institute of International Education, as a member of the national advisory council of the Moscow University summer session in 1935.

School Called Off

Murrow said in a statement that the school was called off by the Russians before it began, and said further that the institute "dealt primarily with the exchange of students and professors between this and foreign countries."

The broadcaster then listed several members of the organization's board of trustees, including John Foster Dulles, Secretary of State.

Red Cross Provides Vital Aid

During the first 11 days of March, the month of the annual Red Cross drive, contributions have helped seven active servicemen, three veterans and on civilian from the Dixon area.

According to Red Cross officials, this means that at least one person was aided every day during the first eleven days of the March campaign.

Every chapter's obligation is service to the armed forces, veterans and their families. That obligation is not likely to diminish soon, Red Cross authorities contend.

The National Red Cross expects $31 million will be needed to help servicemen and veterans in 1954.

During the 11-day period, calls for financial assistance have been comparatively few. Two servicemen and one veteran have repaid $25 on loans previously made to them from chapter funds.

In addition $100 more has been repaid and soon will be received from Red Cross National Accounting service through proper military channels.

Red Cross officials urge Lee county residents to join and serve in the organization based upon the principle of people helping people.

Pinckneyville, Quincy, Moline Pace Sweet Sixteen Winners

By LARRY KRAMP

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Pinckneyville, Quincy and Moline today placed 16 elite teams into next week's playoffs for the 1954 Illinois high school basketball crown.

Mount Vernon, Edwardsville, East Rockford and Peoria Central also were among 15 downstate quintets that earned berths in the showdown at Champaign by capturing sectional tournament prizes Friday night.

Rounding out the playoff field will be Chicago's DuSable Panthers, the only unbeaten club in the field, which qualified by grabbing the public school title of the Windy City from Lake View.

DuSable, defending Chicago champion and a repeater to the state finals, is a top-ranking favorite—an unusual role for a Chicago entry. Chicago has never won the title.

Moline a Victim
Moline of Cicero, which had been ranked third behind Pinckneyville and Quincy, fell a victim to Thornton of Harvey in the prime upset Friday.

The seven other teams that nailed down state final berths are Litchfield (28-4), Princeton (25-3), Barrington (27-1), Cumberland (30-2), Bowen (30-2), Danville (21-8) and Springfield (10-18).

Beaten only twice all season, Morton was edged 58-50 by Thornton's final half attack after a mid-game tie. Morton had eliminated LaGrange, the defending state champion, in the sectional play. Thornton has a sizeable performance chart, counting 23 conquests against 6 losses.

Princeton, Cumberland, Bowen and Springfield all turned in upsets.

One District Team
Princeton beat Ottawa 54-46, Bowen, a bare 56-54 victor over Monmouth, is the only district winner to rise to "Sweet Sixteen" eminence this season.

Cumberland's triumph at Olney powdered the hopes of Lawrenceville, another 1953 finalist, in a 73-66 game. Springfield cashed in on its chances to visit Champaign for the 12th time, dumping Lincoln 59-30.

Pinckneyville (30-2), picked in the last Associated Press poll to figure the likely champion led Centralia all the way in a 67-61 sectional final at West Frankfort. It was the Pincks' second win in three attempts over Centralia.

Overtime Test
Quincy (25-2), however, had to survive a 71-68 overtime affair at Jacksonville over its host to support its No. 2 ranking. The score was 63-63 at the end of the regulation game. Bill Rineberg scored four free throws in the final period to lead the Blue Devils out of danger.

Likewise after time had run out but not in an overtime, the fifth-ranked Mount Vernon Rams (25-3) won the Harrisburg sectional from the Mount Carmel Aces 70-69. The Aces had a 69-68 lead with seconds to play and possession of the ball. Then Al Avant, Ram guard, stole the ball and was fouled as the game ended. Avant made both free throws after the gun.

15th Trip
Edwardsville (26-5), the sixth-ranked club, beat out East St. Louis 74-72 in a flurry of scoring after the count was knotted 70-70 with a minute to go.

Moline (23-5), rated fourth, hit 38 per cent of its shots and powered to a 73-53 verdict over Sterling and its 15th trip to Champaign.

Litchfield (28-4), led by a 29-point total poured in by Ron Pursell, sped past Decatur 73-69 at Vandalia and Barrington beat Proviso of Maywood 61 to 42 at Arlington Heights.

East Rockford (23-2) showed its caliber of power at home lacing DeKalb 69 to 51 and Peoria Central (23-5) the 1953 state runnerup, nailed Pekin 65-55. Danville (21-8) whipped Hoopes-ton 58 to 47 at Champaign.

Tigers Trip Ottawa in 54-46 Test

Sharrick Turns Tide by Setting Up Big Mates

LASALLE (Special)—The Princeton Tigers became the first team in Bureau county ever to make a trip to the Illinois State tournament as they battled back from a 27-22 halftime deficit to bump the Ottawa Pirates, 54-46.

Dennis Sharick proved to be the man to break the Pirates back as he entered the game in the second half and began setting up Joe Rucklick and Fred Boher. Tiger big men, Sharick, 5-6 guard, turned the tide of battle with his ball handling as the Tigers roared to a 35-35 edge at the end of three periods and then bowled the Pirates over in the final period.

For three periods, the game was pretty close with the score being tied on 12 occasions. At the end of the first period, the count was knotted at 9-9. In the second period, Ottawa surged to a 27-22 margin, but Princeton battled back in the third quarter. After the score was tied a 35-35 in the final period, Princeton pulled ahead and was never headed.

Joe Rucklick paced the Princeton scoring with 20 points while Boher had 16. Gene Honeyman, with 18 points, led Ottawa.

Princeton draws Quincy, 71-68 overtime winner over Jacksonville in the Jacksonville tournament, as its first opponent at the Sweet Sixteen tournament at Champaign Thursday.

Valdes Wins Dull Decision Over Parker

NEW YORK (AP)—His prestige dimmed by a lack-lustre victory over James J. Parker, Big Nino Valdes of Cuba today planned a European invasion to bolster his chances for a September title shot at heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano.

In fact his prestige was dimmed so much that chairman Bob Christenberry of the New York State Athletic Commission said Valdes' check for $5,000 was being returned. The Cuban posted the $5,000 about three weeks ago as a challenge for Marciano's title.

The 29-year-old Cuban champion and the world's No. 2 heavyweight contender will first fight Belgian Karel Sij in Antwerp in April, according to Manager Bobby Gleason.

Fails to Impress
Valdes scored his seventh straight victory by outpointing the Canadian-born, Paterson, N. J., Parker at Madison Square Garden Friday night. The decision was unanimous but Nino failed to impress the crowd of 4,173 (gross gate $12,619) and television across the nation.

"I hurt my right hand in the fourth round," said Valdes. "Otherwise I knock him out in the sixth or seventh round."

DePue Boys Lead Upset By Western

Rios, Talbot Get 20 Points as Illinois Five Stops Champs

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Western Illinois and St. Benedict's (Kan.) clash tonight for the National Intercollegiate (NAIA) basketball crown after dumping favored opponents in Friday night's semifinal go.

The Ravens of St. Benedict's knocked off Arkansas Tech's wonder boys, 63-59, and Western Illinois of Macomb downed defending Springfield (Mo) State, 78-75.

Springfield and Arkansas Tech open tonight's activities at 8 p.m. (CST) in a tilt for third place. The championship game is set for 9:40 p.m. (CST).

St. Benedict's, a big, slow-moving club, showed the crowd of 9,000 it was definitely the better team Friday night, although the Arkansas team put up a stubborn fight.

First Timers
Western Illinois, a first-timer in the national tournament, wasn't at all awed by Springfield's two straight titles and 13 consecutive NAIA victories.

Springfield started off strong, holding a 22-12 edge at the end of the first period. The Leathernecks from Illinois found the mark in the second quarter and the half ended in a 40-40 tie.

Western Illinois held a 59-58 edge at the end of a see-saw third period.

Frankie Windup
Springfield fired up in the fourth quarter and with six minutes left held a five-point, 71-66 lead. Western Illinois bounced back to tie things up at 71-71. The lead changed hands four times in the frantic windup but Western Illinois finally got out in front, 76-75, and Springfield couldn't catch up again.

Lupe Rios and Gene Talbot each scored 20 points for Western Illinois. Springfield's Art Helms was high for the game with 22.

(Rios and Talbot, along with Talbot's brother Don, are all from DePue and are on Western Illinois' starting five. Ed.)

CINCINNATI (AP)—Joe Miceli, the new York welterweight who has knocked out all three of his 1954 opponents in five rounds or less, tonight will battle John Lombardo of Mt. Carmel, Pa., in a scheduled 10-rounder.

The 25-year-old Miceli is a slight favorite in the fight to be televised nationally over the ABC network starting at 8 p.m. (CST).

Irish Upset Hoosiers, 65-64; Bradley Wins

65-64; Bradley Wins

"THEY PRACTICALLY TORE THE TOWN APART, last night," Hugh Skinner, Bureau County Republican sports editor said this morning after Princeton had beaten back the favored Ottawa Pirates in the LaSalle sectional tournament last night.

That makes Princeton the first team from Bureau county to win a "Sweet Sixteen" berth and the whole county seemed to have joined in the celebration.

THE TIGERS DID THE TRICK without the services of Stan Peterson, leading scorer for the Princeton quintet. Peterson returned to school Thursday and is expected to begin working out with the squad on Monday in preparation for the Tigers' first game on Thursday against a highly regarded Quincy five.

If Peterson can come through and give the Tigers that little extra they had all season, the folks from Princeton may very likely have something else to tear up the town about.

OFFICIALS FOR THE TOURNAMENT were announced this morning. They are: John K. Fraser, Alton; Thomas Koumanoff, Arlington Heights; James E. McCoskey, Murphysboro; James A. Paterson, Crete; Joe Prada, East St. Louis, and Claude W. Rhodes, Benton. E. M. Cole, Morrison, will be assistant statistician.

NOTRE DAME, NOT AS STRONG in depth in basketball as in football, is regarded as an iron man club. The Irish rarely use more than five or six men. Dick Rosenthal, 6-4 pivotman, who held All-American Don Schlundt to one basket, wore himself out doing it. He collapsed on the floor during a time out late in the fourth quarter and became sick. But he came back to toss in the winning free throw that eventually made the difference.

IN MAKING OUR SELECTIONS in the 15 sectional tournaments, we ended up with a .667 average, getting 10 right and five wrong. We were right in picking: Moline, East Rockford, Princeton, Barrington, Mt. Vernon, Quincy, Peoria Central, Litchfield, Pinckneyville and Edwardsville. We missed the boat when Thornton won and not Morton; when Bowen won and not Monmouth; when Springfield won and not Trinity of Bloomington; when Danville won and not Rantoul, and when Cumberland won and not Parris.

Maybe we can do better with the State. We'll take the weekend to think it over.

Duquesne, Holy Cross Meet Tonight for NIT Crown

NEW YORK (AP)—If basketball form holds true, as it has through most of the 17th National Invitation Tournament, Duquesne's Iron Dukes will beat Holy Cross tonight and take the title that has eluded them ever since they first went to the final round 14 years ago.

But Holy Cross is the only team to upset the Duke so far in the tournament and its part of NIT "form" that there has to be at least one outsider to cause trouble.

Until the Crusaders, the third-ranked team, spilled second-seeded Western Kentucky 75-69 Thursday night, the favorites had won every game. And for the first time since the field was expanded to 12 teams, all four seeded teams reached the semi-finals.

On this basis, the fired-up Crusaders, urged on by the largest and noisiest rooting section of any of the tournament entries, figure to have a good change of perpetrating another upset. It should be an interesting clash between one of the best defensive teams in America, Duquesne, and one of the strongest offensive aggregations, Holy Cross.

The preliminary third-place game between Western Kentucky and Niagara may also have bright moments. The Kentucky team, tabbed by veteran Coach Ed Diddle as the best in his 34 years, didn't like being beaten for the second time in 31 games.

It is the seventh NIT for Duquesne, which lost to Colorado in the 1940 final and didn't get to the last round again until this year. It's only the second NIT for Holy Cross, which also has played in three National Collegiate A.A. tournaments the past six years.

Warriors Bow, 73-53, To Maroons

East Rockford Tops Barbs, 69-51; Meets Moline Next

STERLING (Special)—East Rockford and Moline clash in the first round of the "Sweet Sixteen" tournament Wednesday afternoon as a result of their sweeping victories over DeKalb and Sterling in sectional final games.

Moline rolled up 41 points in the second half against Sterling to ground out a 73-53 verdict over the Warriors. Meanwhile, at East Rockford, the host E-Rabs bolted to a 39-21 halftime lead, held off a third period rally by DeKalb and went on to a 69-51 victory.

Sterling held a few surprises for Moline during the first half. After falling behind, 15-9, at the end of the first quarter and giving up the first two points to the Maroons in the second period, the Warriors battled back to knot the count at 22-22 and again at 25-25. But then the Maroon fight began to tell and the Warriors felt back, trailing, 29-32 at halftime.

All Moline
From then on, it was all Moline as the Maroons began to pull away, leading 55-41 at the end of three periods.

John Carrillo was again the big man for the Warriors with his drive-ins and set shots, but the combined efforts of Coach Jack Foley's Moline five was just a little too much for the Warriors to handle. Carrillo paced the Warriors with 13 points. Whitey Verstraete paced Moline with 19 points.

At Rockford, the Barbs exhibited signs of nervousness in the first quarter while East was boiling hot. The Barbs bounded out to a 27-11 first period lead and were never headed. DeKalb made its one bid in the third period when the Barbs cut East's 18 point halftime margin to 13 points as the period ended with the Barbs leading, 47-34.

Dick Paszotta and Bob Vaughn, with 14 points each led DeKalb, while Bill Laude and Ron Johnson, with 23 and 21 points each, topped East.

The box scores:
Moline (73) vs. Sterling (52).
Verstraete 5, G. F. Hanson 1, Davidson 0, 3, 2, Spafford 2, 4, 1, Gunter 7, 1, 2, Newell 2, 4, 4, Winters 3, 2, 2, Carrillo 6, 1, 3, Dhabuit 4, 7, 5, Kende 1, 2, 3, Ortiz 2, 1, 0, Mylin 3, 2, 2, Meyers 2, 0, 4, Gehlsen 1, 0, 0, Trull 1, 2, 0, Celestino 0, 1, 1, Anderson 3, 2, 2.

Others Follow Form
Penn State, for its part, upended Louisiana State 78-70 in the other half of the Iowa City doubleheader so Notre Dame will have its hands full.

The other round of 16 games did not provide any startling form reversals. La Salle whipped North Carolina State 68-61 and Navy edged Cornell 69-67 in Philadelphia; Oklahoma A&M slugged Rice 51-45 and Bradley turned back Colorado 76-64 at Stillwater, and at Corpus Christi, Southern California dominated Idaho State 73-59 and Santa Clara halted Colorado A&M 73-50.

Stop Mates
Penn State, an at-large entry like Notre Dame, must be an underrated team. The Nittany Lions couldn't do much with LSU's all-America, Bob Pettit, who poured 34 points through the hoop, but they did stop his mates.

Another all-America, Tom Gola of La Salle, had better luck than Pettit. He scored 26 points and grabbed the same number of rebounds in his team's triumph over North Carolina State. The game was close until the last five minutes.

Bradley's victory over Colorado was engineered to a great extent by Bob Carney, who set a new NCAA record for foul shots hitting for 23 of them. He totaled 37 points for the game. Seattle's Johnny O'Brien held the old foul record—18.

One-Minute Reviews Describe New Books at Dixon Library

The Mind Alive, by Harry and Bonaro Overstreet. The authors of "The Mature Mind" have written a continuation of their earlier studies in the maturing process.

The Natural Superiority of Women, by Montague Ashley-Montagu. This brief book on a complex subject brings comfort to both sexes—chiefly to men associated with the women who finally have proof (to them) in print of something they knew all the time! Tension disappears with this surety.

It's Good to Be Black, by Ruby B. Goodwin. A Negro woman born in Southern Illinois writes of the compensations which may accompany the belonging to a minority group.

Craters of Fire, by Haroun Tazieff. Adventure and science combine in exploring active volcanoes. "Craters of Fire."

Mr. Tazieff's earlier book was Home Improvement Ideas and Home Building Ideas, from Better Homes and Gardens. Latest editions of these two popular handbooks.

What's New in Bridge, by Oswald Jacoby. A book on bridge by this authority needs no comment.

Your Voice, by Eugene Fechtlinger. Technical "methods for strengthening and developing the voice."

The Chip on Grandma's Shoulder, by Robert Leavitt. Many of these personal narratives with humor as a primary ingredient have appeared in recent years. Some of them are good; this one is. His grandmother did have a permanent chip on her shoulder, and intertwined with memories of her are those of a New England boyhood.

Stillmeadow and Sugarbridge, by Gladys Taber and Barbara Webster. The joys of gracious country living are variously illustrated in this exchange of friendly letters between two friends, one living in Connecticut and the other among the hills of Pennsylvania.

World Wide Travel Guide, by Richard Joseph. "The year round handbook of pleasure travel."

A Stillness at Appomattox, by Bruce Catton. An intimate and readable account of the last year of the Civil War as seen through the eyes of the private soldier.

Fiction

The Golden Fool, by Arthur D. Divine. The discovery of gold in the Transvaal brings tragedy to the family on whose farm the gold was found.

Away All Boats, by Kenneth Dodson. According to reviews this is one of the best. If not the best, novel on naval war in the South Pacific. And without any sex!

The Violins of Saint-Jacques, by Patrick Leigh Fermor. A beautifully written novel of the exciting events which took place on an island in the Antilles. The night of the great ball was the night the rumbling volcano chose to erupt.

The Night of the Hunter, by Davis Grubb. A book of intense emotions and suspense. A mystery of sorts, the plot concerns stolen money hidden by the thief before he

'Genius' Put In Hospital; Admits Arson

BELOIT, Wis. (U. P.)—An 18-year-old genius, Stephen Posey, of Wilmette, Ill., has been committed to Wisconsin's Central State hospital for the criminal insane.

The commitment was ordered Friday by Municipal Court Judge Arthur Luebeck on a specific charge of arson connected with a $250,000 fire that destroyed the Beloit college chapel last December.

Posey, the son of Professor Rollin Posey, of Northwestern university, and grandson of the late Dr. Clarence A. Dykstra, former president of the University of Wisconsin, was a freshman at Beloit.

Police Chief George E. Griffen said the boy, described as having an I. Q. of 200, had signed a statement admitting he started the chapel fire and forged several checks.

Judge Luebeck said he had been informed by Dr. Walter J. Urban, of Mendota State hospital, that tests showed Posey was mentally ill.

The judge said he was postponing charges against Posey indefinitely, but directed that should the young man regain his health, he be returned to Rock county custody to face pending charges of arson and larceny.

Winds Rip Mid-State Regions

LINCOLN, Ill. (U. P.)—Howling winds whipped rain and hail through this section of central Illinois Friday night, damaging business places, homes, trees and utility poles.

High winds tore off the roof at the new Armour Creamery plant, scattering debris on the adjoining Gulf, Mobile & Ohio railroad tracks. Service on the line was disrupted.

The interurban Illinois Terminal railroad also was tied up for some time when an electric power line fell across the tracks.

Most of Lincoln was without electric power for more than two hours.

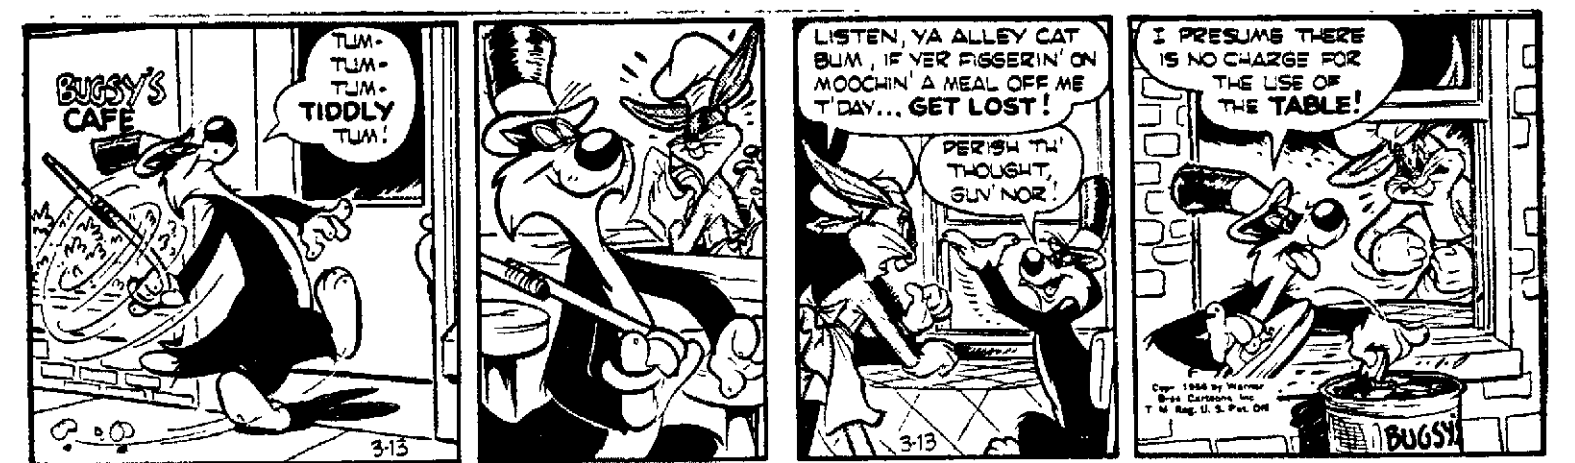

At the peak of the storm cars and trucks traveling along Route 66 near Elkhart were forced to seek shelter behind buildings.

Barr Crossing, a small community 14 miles northwest of Springfield, also felt the fury of the storm when winds unroofed a house and damaged a grain elevator.

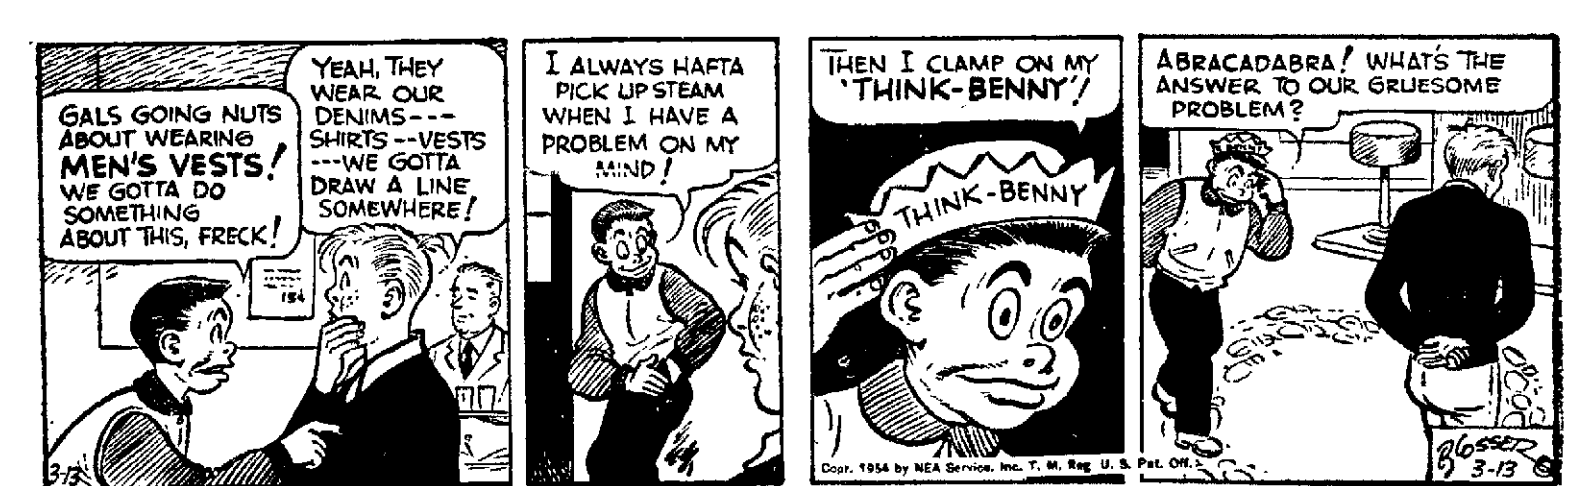

Springfield itself and other cities in the area, including Jacksonville and Old Berlin, also were buffeted by winds and heavy rain.

Veterans' Commission Seeking Names of County Cemeteries

The Illinois Veterans' Commission, through the local service officer, Albert Ruggles, is endeavoring to get the names of active and abandoned cemeteries in Lee county where veterans of all wars are buried.

The project was assigned to the Illinois Veterans' Commission by the 68th general assembly for the purpose of publishing a revised roll of honor of Illinois veterans.

It is the desire of the commission that residents of Lee county read the list of cemeteries as identified from the records and carried below. Persons who might know of any not listed are requested to contact Albert Ruggles, IVC service officer of Lee county, with headquarters at 122 East First St., Dixon. The office phone number is 3-9481.

Those who can identify a cemetery not credited on the commission's list are requested to supply its location by township or town. Albert Ruggles pointed out that those who cooperate with this request will be performing a valuable service to the state in organizing its revised roll of honor.

Following is the list of cemeteries as shown from the records (designated also by former names if change has been made).

Mayor Steps Into New York Dock Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—Mayor Robert F. Wagner has called for meetings today with waterfront labor leaders and employers in hope of ending a wildcat strike costing the shipping industry an estimated million dollars a day.

The mayor intervened in the now nine-day-old pier strike after city business leaders Friday told him New York's economy would be seriously hurt if the walkout continued.

Wagner said 5,000 businesses have already been affected and soon may begin to lay off workers. Importers told him that millions of dollars worth of fruit and vegetables will spoil on ships stranded in the port.

Gruenther Says Air Clash Evidence of Red Hostility

OMAHA (AP)—Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, supreme Allied commander in Europe, says Friday's attack on two U. S. planes by a Soviet-type aircraft near the German border gives new evidence of Russian hostility to the free world.

Gruenther, a native Nebraskan, spoke Friday night in connection with Omaha's centennial observance.

A Soviet propaganda campaign "to show there is no danger," he said, was belied by the attack.

"There is no new look by Molotov," Gruenther said, adding it would be a "tragic error" for Western Allies to relax their vigilance during a "long period of uneasy truce."

President Takes Rest In Mountains

THURMONT, Md. (AP)—President Eisenhower rested today at his Catocin Mountain lodge and planned some work on the tax address he will make to the nation over television and radio Monday night.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower arrived Friday afternoon at Camp David, presidential retreat named for their grandson.

The President still hoped to get in a round of golf today but the weather on his arrival dimmed the prospects.

The Catocin Mountains were covered with a light snow which fell Thursday, and the greens on the golf course where Eisenhower usually plays in this area were crusted with ice.
